Project Rules & Submission Details

This Year's Theme 🌐🚀

The theme will be revealed during our Opening Ceremony. Make sure that you can justify how your project matches our theme during your pitch! 🛠️

Submission Requirements 🏆

At UofTHacks 11, your final project should be brand new, crafted exclusively over the hackathon weekend. Hacking kicks off after our opening ceremony, and concludes at 7 am on Sunday, January 28, 2024. All code for UofTHacks 11 must be written within this timeframe, except for code sourced from public open-source libraries, APIs, or tutorials.

Projects worked on outside of this time frame will be disqualified from judging.

A 2-4 minute video submission is required for ALL projects this year. Any projects without a video submission will be disqualified.

Devpost Projects Due Sunday at 7 am 📌

Devpost, the online platform for hackathon management, is where all UofTHacks 11 hackers must register and submit their projects to qualify for prizes. This link will be released in the Discord on the day of the event.

Submit your project to Devpost by 7 am on Sunday, January 28th. Your Devpost submission doesn't need to be complete; we just need an entry to ensure you'll be presenting a project!

📥 Assign one person to start and submit your Devpost early to avoid missing the deadline. You're free to continue editing your Devpost submission until 7 am on Sunday, January 28th, when hacking officially concludes.

Judging on Sunday Afternoon🥇

UofTHacks 11 Judging is set for 10:30 am to 1 pm on Sunday. You must pitch your project to qualify for a prize.

Showcase your projects, pitch them to industry representatives, and participate in the expo-style judging process.

When submitting your Devpost, make sure to select the appropriate prize categories you would like to be considered for. Hackers who fail to do so will not be considered for sponsor challenges. All projects will automatically be considered for the UofTHacks Overall prizes.

Detailed judging specifics, including your table number and time slot will be released in Discord on Sunday! 🎉
